

[Download] A Test of Faith?: Religious Diversity and Accommodation in the European Workplace (Cultural Diversity and Law in Association with RELIGARE)

A Test of Faith?: Religious Diversity and Accommodation in the European Workplace (Cultural Diversity and Law in Association with RELIGARE)

From Brand: Ashgate Pub Co

**Download PDF | ePub | DOC | audiobook | ebooks*

DOWNLOAD

+

READ ONLINE

#9013339 in Books Ashgate Pub Co 2012-08-20 Original language: English 9.21 x .88 x 6.14l, 1.90 #File Name: 140944502X382 pages | File size: 71.Mb

From Brand: Ashgate Pub Co : A Test of Faith?: Religious Diversity and Accommodation in the European Workplace (Cultural Diversity and Law in Association with RELIGARE) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised A Test of Faith?: Religious Diversity and Accommodation in the European Workplace (Cultural Diversity and Law in Association with RELIGARE):

Issues of religious diversity in the workplace have become very topical and have been raised before domestic courts and the European Court of Human Rights. Examining the controversial and constantly evolving position of religion in the workplace, this collection brings together chapters by legal and social science scholars and provides a wealth of information on legal responses across Europe, Turkey and the United States to conflicts between professional and religious obligations involving employees and employers. The contributors examine how case law from the European Court of Human Rights, domestic experiences and comparative analyses can indicate trends and reveal established and innovative approaches. This multi-perspective volume will be relevant for legal practitioners, researchers, academics and policy-makers interested in human rights law, discrimination law, labour law and the intersection of law and religion.

"...the book is worthwhile reading and an original source of information and analysis of the relevant legal, political and anthropological implications of an issue that Europe, as political and legal entity, and its Member States cannot defer to tackle.' Religion and Human Rights Religion and modernity meet in the European workplace. The implications are many and varied. The contributions to this timely volume are concerned with the legal dimensions of these encounters. They merit very careful scrutiny.' Grace Davie, University of Exeter, UK 'Throughout Europe, religion in the workplace is perceived as self-evident in some contexts, and as hugely problematic in others. The increasing number of legal scholars and practitioners who confront this issue will find in this book numerous pathways along which to form their own legal opinion, and to help shape the as yet undecided legal approaches in many European countries.'

Eva Brems, Ghent University, Belgium

About the Author

Katayoun Alidadi is a PhD researcher at the Catholic University of Leuven, Belgium and project researcher for RELIGARE. Marie-Claire Foblets, Lic. Iur., Lic. Phil., Ph.D. Anthropol. (Belgium) is professor of Law and of Anthropology at the Universities of Leuven (Louvain) and Antwerp. She has held various visiting professorships both within and outside Europe. For several years she served as Head of the Department of Social and Cultural Anthropology at the Catholic University of Leuven. She currently chairs the Institute for Migration Law and Legal Anthropology at the Law Faculty in Leuven. She has conducted extensive research and published widely on issues of migration law, including the elaboration of European migration law after the Treaty of Amsterdam, citizenship/nationality laws, compulsory integration, anti-racism and non-discrimination, etc. In the field of anthropology of law, her research focuses on cultural diversity and legal practice, with a particular interest in the application of Islamic family laws in Europe, and more recently in the accommodation of cultural and religious diversity under State law. Jogchum Vrieling is Post-Doctoral researcher at the Catholic University of Leuven, Belgium and project manager for RELIGARE.