Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives Bureau of Alcohol : ATF State Laws and Published Ordinances - Firearms Plus ATF Firearms Curios or Relics List before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised ATF State Laws and Published Ordinances - Firearms Plus ATF Firearms Curios or Relics List:

Two Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (ATF) books combine into one book. If you purchase both books separately you would pay more for the books, plus the extra shipping cost. A great value! State Laws and Published Ordinances Firearms (ATF P 5300.5). This publication is designed to help you comply with Federal and State firearms laws. Specifically, it will assist you in complying with the Gun Control Act of 1968 (GCA). The GCA prohibits licensees from selling or delivering a firearm to a non-licensee whose receipt or possession of the firearm would violate State or local laws applicable at the place of sale or delivery. In addition, this book will assist you in making lawful over-the-counter sales of rifles and shotguns to out-of-State resident transactions that must meet the legal requirements of both your State of residence and the purchaser's State of residence. State Laws and Published Ordinances _ Firearms also includes a "Ready Reference Table" to provide you with additional assistance for your business operations. When deciding whether to make a sale, you should first consult the full text of the State requirements, and if appropriate, contact State and local authorities before making a decision. As a Federal Firearms Licensee, you play a critical role in ensuring that only eligible persons are able to acquire firearms from you. Your acquisition and disposition records, Firearms Transaction Record ATF Forms 4473, and Reports of Multiple Sales or Other Dispositions of Pistols and Revolvers ATF Form 3310.4, have proven invaluable to law enforcement agencies at all levels of government in tracing firearms involved in crime. PLUS: ATF Firearms Curios or Relics List, A regulation implementing Federal firearms laws, 27 CFR Section 478.11, defines CR firearms as those which are of special interest to collectors by reason of some quality other than is associated with firearms intended for sporting use or as offensive or defensive weapons. To be recognized as CR items, 478.11 specifies that firearms must fall within one of 3 categories. This manual will give you guidance for a classification of your particular firearm. Contents: Federally Licensed Firearms Collectors. What are Curios or Relics. Regulations Applicable to Licensed Collectors. Curios or Relics, and Collectors Items (Definitions and Determinations). Collectors Wanting a Determination. Import Restrictions. The Firearms Curios or Relics List. Ammunition classified as curios or relics. Firearms classified as curios or relics (still under the GCA). Weapons removed from the National Firearms Act (NFA) as collector's items which are determined to be curios or relics subject to the provisions of the GCA. Weapons removed from the National Firearms Act (NFA) as collector's items that are antiques not subject to the provisions of the GCA. NFA weapons classified as curios or relics (still under the NFA and the GCA).

About the Author The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives (abbreviated ATF) is a federal law enforcement organization within the United States Department of Justice. Its responsibilities include the investigation and prevention of federal offenses involving the unlawful use, manufacture, and possession of firearms and explosives, acts of arson and bombings, and illegal trafficking of alcohol and tobacco products. The ATF also regulates via licensing the sale, possession, and transportation of firearms, ammunition, and explosives in interstate commerce. ATF, as a bureau, consists of several different groups that each has their own respective role, commanded by a director. Special Agents are empowered to conduct criminal investigations, defend the United States against international and domestic terrorism, and work with state and local police officers to reduce violent crime on a national level. ATF Special Agents have some of the broadest authority of any federal agency; 18 U.S.C. 3051 empowers them to enforce any statute in the United States Code. Specifically, ATF special agents have lead investigative authority on any federal crime committed with a firearm or explosive, as well as investigative authority over regulatory referrals and Cigarette smuggling. ATF special agents also often enforce violations of the Uniform Controlled Substances Act, and have the statutory authority to conduct narcotics cases independently of the Drug Enforcement Administration or any other agency. ATF Special Agents consistently rank at the top or near the top of all federal agencies in cases referred for prosecution; arrests made, and average time per defendant on an annual basis. Special Agents currently comprise around 2,400 of the Agency's approximately 5,000 personnel. Regulation of firearms: ATF is responsible for regulating firearm commerce in the United States. The Bureau issues Federal Firearms Licenses (FFL) to sellers, and conducts firearms licensee inspections. The Bureau is also involved in programs aimed at reducing gun violence in the United States, by targeting and arresting violent offenders who unlawfully possess firearms. ATF was also involved with the Youth Crime Gun Interdiction Initiative, which expanded tracing of firearms recovered by law enforcement, and the ongoing Comprehensive Crime Gun Tracing Initiative. ATF also provides support to state and local investigators, through the National Integrated Ballistic Identification Network (NIBIN) program.
